

Why CCM[®] Certification MATTERS

The certification process by the Commission for Case Manager Certification[®] (CCMC) includes a rigorous review of a professional's case management knowledge and case management experience.

A board-certified case manager (CCM) is obligated to uphold the professional and ethical standards in CCMC's Code of Professional Conduct.

A board-certified case manager (CCM) has the knowledge, expertise and professional experience needed to serve patients in the emerging models of care and patients with complex health challenges.

A board-certified case manager (CCM) ensures the competency to practice independently, promote quality and safety and protect the public.

A board-certified case manager (CCM) is a professional distinction that the healthcare industry demands and employers and consumers expect.
